Renowned spot for azaleas, the official flower of Aikawa Town

Kanagawa Prefectural Aikawa Park

Explanation of
Tourist Attraction

Kanagawa Prefectural Aikawa Park is a terraced park which extends directly below Miyagase Dam, one of the largest gravity type concrete dams in Japan. The park's expansive grounds, which cover 51 hectares, have been planted with 40,000 azaleas with a total of 40 varieties. Visitors to the park can enjoy impressive seasonal sights, from colorful slopes of azalea flowers that come into bloom in spring to breezy hills with stunning views of Yokohama's famous landmarks on clear days. Aikawa Park Azalea Festival is held here every year on April 29.
