Water Museum

Explanation of Tourist Attraction

Did you know that the Kanagawa Prefecture-run waterworks was established as Japan's first broad area waterworks? The Water Museum opened in the year 1984 utilizing Samukawa's memorial facility, the old pumping station, that is the birthplace of prefecture-run waterworks. The building with the retro exterior built in the year 1936 and the kappa (river-child) fountain in the water circle is popular as a relaxing place for citizens.

selling point

You can play with the "Aqagun shoot" in which water pistols are used to compete how much one can turn the water turbine within a limited time, and the "The Run Down Old Pump" in which you draw water using a hand pump--something that you don't often see anymore.
