One of the largest waterfalls in the Kanagawa prefecture that flows divided into an upper fall of 15 meters and a lower fall of 25 meters. Legends say people would stand in the falls to purify themselves in Kamakura period (1185-1333).

Hakone Shrine

In the past, Hakone Shrine was once a place of worship for the Kanto Region's local deity, Hakone Daigongen. 2,400 years ago, during the reign of Emperor Koshu, the 5th emperor of Japan, Shosen-shonin began to worship Mount Komagatake (the original location of this shrine) in the Hakone Mountain Range as a holy place. Since then, it has been a great sacred mountain in the Kanto region.
