Hi, Jeff and Ben. This is the home economics room. Our Home Economics Club often uses this room for cooking. There are three rules I want you to remember. First, students must not use the room before their time starts or after their time ends. So, our club members should meet in front of the room five minutes before we start using it. Second, students must not take the food they cook in this room back to their homes. So, we should eat all the food in the room. Third, students must clean the room before they leave. We always bring plastic bags from our homes to take all of our garbage back to our homes. We should also return the chairs and tables to their original places. Please remember these three rules to keep everyone safe and keep the room ready and clean for the next students.
