Q2. How long should I recuperate?

If you have symptoms and diagnosed as being infected, your recuperation will end seven days after the day of onset (the first day you develop symptoms) and 24 hours following improvement of your symptoms.

If you develop no symptom during recuperation, your recuperation will end seven days after the day when a sample is collected (when you are tested). If you do test by yourself using the antigen test kit on the fifth day and the test result is negative, you can end your recuperation on the sixth day.

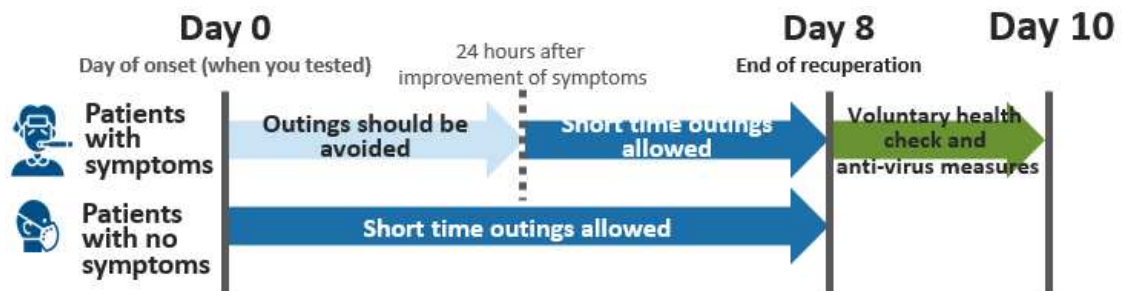

Avoid going to work/school and unessential outings during recuperation.

Recuperation period	10/1	10/2	10/3	10/4	10/5	10/6	10/7	10/8	10/9	10/10	10/11
	Day 0	Day 1	Day 2	Day 3	Day 4	Day 5	Day 6	Day 7	Day 8	Day 9	Day 10
Patients with symptoms	Day of onset	Recuperation period (7 days)							Outings allowed	Voluntary health check and anti-virus measures
Patients with no symptoms	Day of sample collection	Recuperation period (7 days)							Outings allowed
	Day of sample collection	Recuperation period (5 days)				Kit test: Negative	Outings allowed	Voluntary health check and anti-virus measures

Q3. Can I go out during recuperation?

After 24 hours since your symptoms improve, or if you develop no symptoms, you can go out for a minimum time, for glossary shopping, etc. In this case, be sure to take thorough anti-virus measures, such as wearing a mask.

Q4. Where should I contact for general consultation on COVID-19?

Contact the consultation service of the area of your residence.
